

Vote "Yes" on Road Bond Issue Saturday

WHY?

We get the Federal aid pikes, that is, from Mt. Sterling to the Menefee county line, and the Winchester pike from the Clark county line to Mt. Sterling, then on to the Bath county line, out of some high grade, high type material, the Federal government and State paying three-fourths of the cost and Montgomery county one-fourth.

These roads when so constructed, will be maintained by the State with no cost whatever to the county.

The large sum of more than $5,000 now being spent on these roads in trying to keep them in condition can then be spent on the side pikes and dirt roads, thus bringing them up to a better standard.

Bath and Montgomery counties are the only ones on the Midland Trail that have not taken any steps or done any work on this national thoroughfare, which enters the State at Ashland and runs on through this city to Lexington and Louisville.

Twenty cents on the hundred dollars is the most that can be levied under the present constitution for road bonds, and only enough of a levy will be made to take care of such bonds as may be issued by your fiscal court from time to time.

Twenty cents additional tax only increases your present tax on-sixth. Ten cents will only increase your taxes one-twelfth and three cents only one-fortieth.

The proceeds of these bonds can only be used on Federal aid roads and then only to the extent of 25 per cent of the cost thereof, your Fiscal Court having passed an order to that effect, and which order the Court of Appeals of Kentucky has held is a contract with the voters and people which cannot be set aside or abrogated in any way by the present or any future Fiscal Court.

More than one-half of the cost of construction is spent in labor, hence more money than Montgomery county will put up will be spent right here among our citizens for labor, teams, etc.

Good roads mean a saving to the farmer in transportation, in wear and tear upon vehicles, and a corresponding reduction to the consumer.

Better roads mean better schools, better churches and a better citizenship.

The construction of these roads will make Mt. Sterling and Montgomery county the Gateway to Eastern Kentucky part of which has no railroad.

A Vote "No" Means

a return to dirt roads as our present road fund is not sufficient to maintain our pikes.

Further, we will have to pay our part of the 75c the state and government propose to put up of every dollar expended, and it will be spent somewhere else in some more progressive and up-to-date community.

This matter of construction is coming, and waiting means Montgomery county paying the entire cost of construction and then maintaining same.

All the bonds that Montgomery county could vote would not properly construct exceeding 12 to 15 miles of high type roads should the county have to pay all the cost.

WOMEN HAVE THE RIGHT TO VOTE.

Chairman Good Roads Committee.

Dr. N. T. Clark Dead

A few days ago, while Dr. N. T. Clark, the widely known physician of Olympia, was working around his barn his son threw a pitchfork down from the loft, one of the prongs striking the physician near the thigh on the left leg and penetrating the flesh. Blood poison developed from the wound, resulting in his death on Tuesday night. Dr. Clark was about 72 years old and had been a practicing physician for many years, residing in this county a long time near Howard's Mill. He was the grandfather of Mrs. Asa Miller, of this city, and had many friends here who will learn with deepest regret of his death.

Attend Commencement

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Chiles will leave June 3rd in their car for Culver, Ind., to attend the commencement exercises of the Culver Military Academy, their son, Aleo Chiles, being a member of the class of '21. They will have as their guests on the trip, Miss Mary Phillips, of Flemingsburg, and Miss Mildred Gatewood, of this city.

Country Women's Club

The Country Women's Club held its last meeting for the club year in the rooms yesterday. After a short business session the club was addressed by R. G. Kern on the subject of "Good Roads and the Bond issue." Mr. Kern explained the proposition in detail and urged the women to support the movement. During the social hour delightful refreshments of ice cream, cake, strawberries and home-made candy were served. The hostesses for yesterday's meeting were: Mrs. M. A. Prewitt, Mrs. W. K. Prewitt, Mrs. Keller Johnson, Mrs. B. P. Jeffries and Mrs. Rezin G. Owings.

USE GREAT CARE

A gentleman met an Advocate representative and exhibited a hand full of crooked nails and staples which he had gathered in front of a store, where a box had been unloaded any one of which could have made a tire puncture. The hint is, be careful with the disposition of old nails and staples.

Handsome Gift

Prof. M. J. Goodwin, the beloved superintendent of the Montgomery County High School, has been presented with a handsome silver mounted cane by the senior class of the school. The handle is engraved with his name, the date and the words, "Senior Class, 1921." The gift is a beautiful one, and one highly prized by Professor Goodwin.

NOTICE

Give me your orders for pleating of all kinds. Orders can be returned to you in two days. Mrs. Allen D. Prewitt, Jordan Building. 65-66

Endorses Good Roads Bond Issue

To the Ex-Service Men of Montgomery County:

The Montgomery Post, through its executive committee, puts itself on record as heartily in favor of the good roads bond issue, which will be voted on in this county next Saturday, May 28th.

The executive committee, after carefully studying the proposition, finds that it is absolutely non-political, devoid of any promise of partisan advantage or personal graft; that it is not a fight "between the rich and the poor," will not increase our taxes to any appreciable extent, and is indorsed by the most thoughtful and conservative citizens of the commonwealth.

The American Legion is staunchly behind any movement which will better the health, happiness and prosperity of our community. You are, therefore, urged to be at the polls Saturday with the voting members of your family, both men and women over the age of 21, and vote "YES" for the bond issue which will mean permanent good roads and a distinct step forward in our county's progress.

Don't fail us in this, buddy. Whether or not you are a member of the Montgomery Post you have an "individual obligation to the community state and nation" to discharge. Snap into line with your comrades, old timer, and help us to win another battle for those principles which The American Legion has sworn to uphold!

Sincerely yours,

LEWIS H. KILPATRICK.

Commander, Montgomery Post No. 22, American Legion of Kentucky.

May 25th, 1921.

Baseball Saturday, Sunday and Monday

The first game of the newly organized Mt. Sterling Baseball Club will be played Saturday afternoon at the Fair Grounds at 3 o'clock with the American Athletic Girls as their opponents. This team of girls is said to be the best on the road, winning a majority of their games.

The local team will present one of the strongest lineups seen on a local diamond in years and expect to not only win this game, but a big majority of the games to be played this season. A new grandstand has been built with a seating capacity of 300 and there will be plenty of parking room for all automobiles. New uniforms have been ordered and everything will be done to give Mt. Sterling one of the best teams in this section of the state.

The attraction for Sunday and Monday (Decoration Day) will be the strong team from Huntington. This is said to be one of the best clubs in this section and two hot contests are expected.

Circuit Court

Presiding Judge Prewitt has adjourned court until tomorrow, Friday morning, on account of being up with the docket.

The Trimble will case, one of the most important, has been set for the tenth day of the Court, Thursday, June 2nd.

The grand jury has adjourned until next Tuesday.

A Correction

Owing to a typographical error we stated in our Camargo news in last Tuesday's issue that Mr. Ray Moss made a talk on Good Roads at the Camargo school Friday. It should have read Mr. Roy Kern and we cheerfully make the correction.

SELLS CARS

J. D. Wren Auto Company sold the past week to E. W. Hefflin a beautiful Dodge Coupe.

Pastmaster Squire Turner has purchased of the Mt. Sterling garage a five-passenger Buick.

Holly Witherspoon Dies in Winchester

N. Holly Witherspoon, 75 years old, president of the Winchester Bank since its founding 37 years ago, died suddenly at his home on Boone street about 6 o'clock Tuesday of an attack of acute indigestion. Mr. Witherspoon had spent the afternoon at his farm and just entered the yard when he was stricken. He died without regaining consciousness.

Mr. Witherspoon is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. John M. Stevenson and Mrs. Wm. Sphar, of Winchester; seven grandsons, two brothers, Lister Witherspoon, of Versailles, and James Witherspoon, of Harrodsburg. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Dr. C. M. Thompson, pastor of the First Baptist church.

Mr. Witherspoon was one of the most prominent and the wealthiest man in Clark county. He came to the county from Owenton 37 years ago and with Rev. J. Pike Powers, formerly pastor of the Mt. Sterling Baptist church, organized the Winchester Bank. He has served as the president of this institution since its founding. He was a Confederate veteran, serving during the Civil War with General John H. Morgan.

For the past 37 years we have known Mr. Witherspoon and of many of his generous acts. He believed in titling and when he had made a net profit he always considered one-tenth of the net earning was the Lord's, and to his purposes he gave. When Mr. Witherspoon first went to Winchester he found the Baptist church of that city, with which he took membership, a struggling body, and of his earnings he gave freely, asking the brethren to do their best, and he invariably made the amount wanted good. As a local matter we mention that Howard's Mill Baptist church was in need of funds, that who made application of him for help through pastor E. E. Bomar and on that very day he said "I have made clear $250 and knew that one-tenth should go somewhere," and responded with one-tenth. Not only was he a charitable man, but a Christian gentleman and worker.

We met a few weeks past and in the exchange of courtesies referred to our ages and each thought the other carried his age well, when the writer remarked we are growing old and can be here but a few years longer, and what for the future, to which the great banker and Christian replied:

"Hedden, should I fail to enter Heaven I would be the worst disappointed man you have ever known." What an expression of faith and declaration of grace by this saved man. In the church, the city, county and state and nation here is a man that will be greatly missed.

Voters, Why Give Your Money to Others?

The license tax on automobiles and trucks already paid in Montgomery county amounts in round numbers to $13,000, which goes to the state, and is lost to the county unless this bond issue is voted. This sum is more than one-half of our present road fund and this one item alone if allowed to return to the county, would, in three years, more than pay our one-fourth of reconstructing the Winchester pike and in five more years would care for our part of the Camargo pike and in seven more years would care for the pike from Mt. Sterling to the Bath county line. It is good business from this item alone to vote the Bond Issue. In addition, there are other items we can save to the road fund. Why give all this money to other counties when we are in need of the roads?

RIGHT NOW IS BEST TIME TO ENTER BIG PRIZE CAMPAIGN

Those Who First Awaken to This Wonderful Opportunity Will Receive More Votes on Subscriptions Than Will Be Given Later. Enter NOW.—Your Spare Time is Valuable.

A man once stood upon London Bridge—round his neck was fastened a tray upon which were laid several hundred golden sovereigns, which he was offering for sale at the price of a penny-a-piece. All the afternoon he stood there without effecting a single sale, until at length a workman purchased one of the coins, thinking it would be an excellent toy for his child. When he reached home he discovered the value of the coin and hastened back to buy more, but the vendor had gone and he had lost his opportunity.

In both districts in the big subscription campaign a similar state of affairs prevails. While we are receiving many coupons sent in by our subscribers for the various candidates, only a few candidates have yet made up their mind to commence their campaign and at the present time we have many more prizes than active workers. Numerous candidates will realize too late the unusual opportunity they are literally throwing away, of possessing one of the valuable prizes offered in the big gift distribution.

Don't Be a Rip Van Winkle

Just think of it—an automobile—valued at $875—or any one of the hundreds of dollars in other valuable prizes offered in the big prize competition for the least expenditure of trouble. Valuable prizes that are worth your very best efforts and yet they are actually going begging for lack of active candidates to compete for them. Don't be a Rip Van Winkle—awaken to your opportunities—don't let this life-time opportunity pass by without taking advantage of it.

Now are YOU—a candidate who has been nominated in this big race or who is eligible, going to let an unusual opportunity like this pass by without even making an effort to take advantage of it? Are you going to acknowledge to yourself and to the friends who are watching your standing in the paper, that you lack ambition even to make an effort to win? Those friends who nominated you and who, perhaps, have been clipping the coupons from the paper and sending them in for you, certainly had confidence in your ability to win or they would not be helping you.

Live Candidate Has Fine Chance

Those who are on the list and those who have been thinking of entering could not pick a better time to do so than right now. The biggest and best vote offers of the campaign have now been announced and thousands of extra votes are given free on all subscriptions.

It will take very little effort on the part of a new candidate to gain a lead. With the big campaign making haste slowly, a live candidate can jump right up among the leaders with a very little effort. Why not take advantage of this unusual opportunity and get started at once. When your friends see that you are going to make an active race, they will gladly give you splendid support in your campaign.

Some Names Eliminated

Several new nominations have been received the past week and quite a number of names have been cut off the list. If we have through error, cut off the name of any candidate who wishes to try for the prizes, we would ask them to notify us at once.

It should be understood that the fact that even though candidates may have votes to their credit, it does not necessarily signify that they are making an active race. In many cases the clipped coupons of the paper are being sent in for candidates who have not even attempted to commence their campaign.

We invite nominations from prospective candidates in all parts of the surrounding territory. Simply send in your nomination—either your own name or that of a friend. Supplies and instructions for conducting the campaign will then be sent the prospective candidates.

Best Time to Get Started

"Right Now" is the best time in the whole campaign to get started for the biggest and best vote offer of the campaign is now in force and thousands of extra votes are given free on all subscriptions. No better vote offer will be made at any future time during the campaign (we guarantee this) so contestants need not hesitate about sending in subscriptions at once for now is the time they will bring the most votes. As subscriptions under this vote offer bring thousands of extra votes free, it affords new contestants a splendid opportunity to get a good start in the big race.

Schedule of Votes on Subscriptions

	Old	New
10 years	$15.00	28,400...56,800
8 years	12.00	21,600...43,200
5 years	7.50	12,800...25,600
4 years	6.00	9,600...19,200
3 years	4.50	7,200...14,400
2 years	3.00	4,400...8,800
1 year	1.50	1,800...3,600

Three times the above number of votes will be given on all subscriptions turned in during the early part of the campaign or during the first and second period.

30,000 Extra Votes Free

On the first three subscriptions—either new or renewal—turned in on or before Saturday, June 4th, the candidate will be entitled to 30,000 Extra Votes Free, in addition to the usual number of votes given. Anyone can easily get three subscriptions in a short time among friends and neighbors if they try and these votes will give the candidate a good start in the big race for glory and prizes. The date on the offer has been extended to give new candidates an opportunity to get a good start.

In addition to this offer, 250,000 extra votes will be given free on each club of $15.00 worth of new subscriptions turned in on or before June 21st. It is not necessary to wait until you get a full club before

Poisoned Syrup is Best Control for Ants

Syrup poisoned with arsenate of soda is the most effective remedy for controlling house ants when it can be safely used, according to H. H. Jewett, of the College of Agriculture. The poisoned syrup may be obtained by having any druggist prepare it according to the following formula: One pound of sugar dissolved in one quart of water, to which has been added 125 grains of arsenate of soda; boil the mixture and strain. Small sponges should be dipped in the syrup and placed where they will attract the ants. The workers will carry this poison back to their nest and eventually the entire colony will be destroyed.

Every precaution should be taken in handling this syrup and safeguarding it afterwards to prevent its poisoning human beings or domestic animals.

Other means of controlling house ants, of which the small red ones are the most troublesome, require that such foods as cakes, bread, sugar, meats and various sweets which are especially attractive to the ants, should be kept in ant-proof containers. Care should be taken to see that the floors and shelves in the kitchen and pantries are kept free from particles of food.

If the nest can be located by following the workers as they travel back to it the colony may be killed by pouring a little kerosene or gasoline into the nest. Precautions should be taken to see that there are no fires near.

Dusting liberal amounts of fresh pyrethrum powder each day where the ants are traveling will prove helpful in ridding the house of them in case the nest cannot be found. Dusting or blowing sodium flourid about where the ants are found has proven satisfactory.

This powder will be effective for several days, but care must be exercised in its use as it sometimes irritates the skin and mucous membrane. It should also be placed beyond the reach of children. This powder is an effective remedy for cockroaches. Small sponges dipped in sweetened water will attract large number of ants after which they may be killed by dipping the sponge in boiling water. The process should be repeated as often as necessary.

Don't throw away 75c when we can get a dollar's worth of hard-surfaced roads for 25c. Vote "YES" at the Road Election Saturday.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to an order of the Montgomery County Court in the matter of G. H. Strother and others on petition, entered March 21, 1921, a special election will be held in Montgomery County, Kentucky, on Saturday, May 28th, 1921, for the purpose of taking the sense of the legal voters of said county as to whether or not the Fiscal Court of said county shall, from time to time, issue and sell bonds of said county in the sum of Two Hundred and Fifty Thousand ($250,000) Dollars for the purpose of building, constructing and reconstructing public roads and bridges with asphaltum, concrete, brick, stone block, macadam, gravel or other processes of equal merit, and at which election the proposition will be submitted in words and figures as follows, to-wit:

"Are you in favor of issuing Two Hundred and Fifty Thousand ($250,000) Dollars in bonds for the purpose of building roads and bridges?"

Said election will be held at the regular voting places in each of the precincts of said county between the hours of 6 o'clock A. M. and 4 o'clock P. M.

Given under my hand as sheriff of Montgomery County, Kentucky, this 19th day of April, 1921.

American Legion News

A hallowed mantle of the Grand Army of the Republic falls upon the young shoulders of the American Legion on Memorial Day of this year. Blue uniformed, with medals upon their breast, the white-haired veteran of the Civil War made the Memorial Day round of the school houses in former years. This year it is the Legion members who will visit the school houses in many communities, telling of a different conflict, but teaching the same lessons.

In St. Paul, Minn., the Legion has assumed the task at the request of the G. A. R. itself. Post No. 8 will send 100 men to address the school children of the city and its vicinity.

Andernach, on the Rhine, Germany, where the Boche maidens are the prettiest, once the heart of the thriving Iron Cross market, is the second stronghold in the German Empire to be occupied by the American Legion. The new post is Andernach Post No. 5. Andernach was headquarters of the Third Division in Third Army days, and now quarters the Second Brigade of the American army of occupation. Amaro Post No. 4 of the Legion is situated in Coblenz.

Alfred E. Cameron, a member of Steward Whiting Hoover Post of the American Legion at West Point, N. Y., heard the call of the army, but found that recruiting had stopped. As second choice he went back to the farm in Virginia. A few days later, while plowing, he turned up a copper pot containing $15,000 in old gold and silver coins.

Housing conditions are as perplexing in West Seattle, Wash., as in the rest of the country. Hence the local post of the American Legion has bought a clubhouse which will be remodeled into a clubhouse.

"There is not the least doubt in my mind that if it had not been for the determined stand of the American Legion, Zimmer and I would still be in prison," writes Sergeant Naef, who with Sergeant Zimmer was arrested by the Germans, following an attempt to capture Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, notorious slacker. "The American Legion came to my aid during one of my darkest hours, and it demonstrated by its unwavering loyalty toward a comrade that its sublime aspirations and lofty ideals concerning comradeship are a living truth."

The carrying of any other flags, banners, placards or similar articles in any procession along with the official colors of the American Legion and the stars and stripes is condemned in a bulletin just issued by national headquarters of the Legion. In a procession, the bulletin states, the national colors always should be borne on the military right, with the Legion colors on the left, and the colors should always be provided with a proper guard, composed of men who appreciate fully the great honor conferred upon them.

Barracks, Missouri, with American and American Legion flags in a procession, was passing through the central section of St. Louis. As they neared a prominent corner a man yelled out: "I'll bet this two dollar bill that I won't take off my hat for those flags."

He lost to a Legion man nearly. Likewise he lost his hat, which hit the street with such force that further use was out of the question.

A gain of seventy-six units of the American Legion's Women's Auxiliary last week raises the national total to 2,747 units.

Fifty union labor members out of a total enrollment of sixty-six is the record of the American Legion post at Mulberry, Kan., which won first prize in the Kansas membership contest, second classification. Forty-six union men are members of the United Workers of America; four are affiliated with other trade unions. In addition, the post includes six merchants, three farmers, three clerks, two doctors and two school teachers.

An investigation conducted by the Indiana Department of the American Legion in regard to conditions at Valparaiso University, charged charged by its president, who later resigned, with being a "hothead of Bolshevism," resulted in the stain of un-Americanism being removed from the school. The head of the student body is an ex-service man and fifty-two of the students are Legion members. The government recently closed a contract for the education of 500 more disabled veterans at "the poor man's Harvard."

Less than a month it was organized, the American Legion Post of Bigheart, Okla., began cleaning up the city. Its first move was to purchase trash cans which it placed on every street corner, after which it started a publicity campaign to educate the citizens to use the cans instead of the street.

Photographs of the cemeteries in France where their sons lie buried will be supplied to gold star parents of Lynchburg, Va., by the American Legion Post there in conjunction with the Kiwanis Club.

This publication always strives to serve: No man who doesn't think he could ever learn to tolerate foolish questions should get married.

There is the usual spring building now going on in this section (among the robins).

Carry Complete Stocks and Guarantee Prices to be as Low as the Same Quality Mer-

The merchants of Mt. Sterling, taken as a whole, are as progressive a set of men as can be found anywhere. They carry large stocks of the latest style goods, and are always ready to serve you in a satisfactory manner. They believe in their wares and are not afraid of competition from within or without, knowing full well they are selling goods at as low a price as it is possible to secure the same quality of merchandise anywhere in the country. At your home stores you receive polite, courteous attention and every consideration is given of your needs. The home merchants are your friends, your interests are their interests, and when in need of a favor they are only too glad to grant it.

Mt. Sterling merchants are known over the state as a "Live Set," always being on the alert and with their eyes open, seeking new business.

Here we have a wide-awake organization of business men and farmers known as the Chamber of Commerce, which is always looking toward the welfare of Mt. Sterling's business interests. This organization is headed by one of the widest awake men in the State, Mr. H. G. Hoffman, who never sleeps on the job, having at all times an ear open to any message that may tend toward the bettering of local conditions.

With such business men as we have, backed by such a progressive organization as the Chamber of Commerce of Mt. Sterling and Montgomery County, we have reason to hope and expect to see a rapid growth in Mt. Sterling's business interests. In this connection we have but one suggestion to offer, and that is: "Forget about competition, remember and attend to your own individual interests and boost, boost, boost, NEVER KNOCK." If this little bit of advice is followed we believe it will be of mutual interest to every merchant in Mt. Sterling.

"NOW" IS THE TIME FOR ACTION

We have not heard of a single voter who is opposed to the construction of good roads, however, there are a few who would put off the bond issue at this time for one reason or another, hoping that the next legislature might suggest a proposition whereby the state as a whole will vote on a bond issue.

Just here we would say that those asking for more days of had travel must not realize that delays are dangerous, and that while these main thoroughfares are fixed by way of Mt. Sterling this route is not compulsory and that our refusal to co-operate with the State and National governments would be evidence that we do not want the roads according to the present method and would likely be cause for a change of route. That Montgomery county could be left out of line is no idle dream and for the next 50 years or more we could, by our own acts, be forced out of line and still have to pay our part of the three-fourths taxation to be used in paying for roads in other more progressive counties.

A vote "YES" gives us the hard-surfaced road, while to vote "NO" means to put Montgomery back on dirt roads—which do you prefer?

We have faith in our people, both men and women, and are confident they will vote for the bond issue at the election Saturday.

FOR GOOD ROADS

To us it does not appear that there will be many against the bond issue of $250,000, to be voted on Saturday, for the purpose of constructing hard-surface roads. We are all taxpayers, in other words we create an annual fund for the purpose of supplying our needs. As it is now our road funds pay only for patch work, while under the present proposal the funds of the county will be available, in its entirety, after the main roads are constructed, for rebuilding and maintaining the cross roads of the county, as all main thoroughfares, after being completed, will be taken over by the state and the county relieved of all future maintenance.

The whole proposition in a nut-shell is this: The roads, should they for example cost $100,000 to construct, will be paid for as follows: The county $25,000, the state $25,000 and the federal government $50,000 and the permanent maintenance taken over by the state, thus leaving the county free to spend the moneys heretofore expended on these roads on the various other roads of the county and thereby directly benefiting every taxpayer in the county. We are confident our people are deeply interested in the welfare of their county and WILL VOTE THE BOND ISSUE BY AN OVERWHELMING MAJORITY.

COUNT THE COST AND MAKE COMPARISON

We would have every voter to consider well before casting his or her ballot on the Good Roads questions the coming Saturday. Did you know that the cost of constructing the Winchester pike to the average individual citizen of the county would be less than 25 cents per year for the privilege of having good roads, and that this would last only until the maturity of the bonds, the upkeep being the business of the state?

One dozen eggs per year for each individual would pay the bill for this pike, and it would only take a few dozen to pay for the entire issue.

Blanket Shroud for Brave Magoffin Boy

The body of John Holbrook, a son of Leander and Margaret Holbrook, arrived at Seitz from France. He was one of the boys from Magoffin county who lost his life on the battlefields in France just a few days before the armistice was signed. He enlisted in the service a short time after the United States declared war. He was engaged in several hard-fought battles. His comrades say he never seemed to get frightened while in battle. After he was shot down he called to his chum and said: "They have got me; don't stop until you get them." His body was accompanied to his mother's home by a soldier. When the casket was opened the corpse was rolled in an army blanket bearing his name with a tag about his neck bearing his number and name on it.

Captures Criminal

Budge Holly, negro, suspected of being one of the two men who assaulted and robbed Ray Sexton at Salt Lick several weeks ago, was captured in this city yesterday by Chief of Police J. C. Tipton, who has been on the lookout for him for some time. Sexton, who has just been released from the hospital, was brought here and positively identified Holly as one of his assailants. Sexton was attacked by the two men near his home in Salt Lick and was beaten into unconsciousness. He lay in the open all night and when found was half dead from exposure and from his wounds.

Holly gave the officers information as to the whereabouts of the other negro, and the Sheriff of Bath county has gone to Hazard, where the man is thought to be in hiding. Holly was placed in jail here, but demanded a trial and was taken to Owingsville, after which he will be placed in the jail at Lexington, where he is suspected of having been implicated in the murder of William Dillon, an aged furniture dealer, in that city several weeks ago. Examining trial for Holly will be held in Owingsville on Tuesday, May 31.

Some Rum Hound

The Richmond Register's correspondent at Bend, on the river, sent in this story of a remarkable hound dog that has been developed in that section. He writes:

"The Bend holds the records for the most remarkable dog so far. While the fox hunters were having a chase the other night one of the dogs left the pack; was heard at the crossing of the river, barking, and the tone was different from that while in the chase. The men decided to see what he was baying. One examination they found two quarts of 'shine' suspended from a limb overhanging the water. It is claimed by those who found it that it was of a rich mellow flavor, the best they ever tasted. Only a few of the elite were allowed to sample it. Tracks were found in the sand. From their size and a peculiar twist of the foot, it is thought they came from the district known as Punccheon Camp. This dog will not be allowed to enter the races any more, but will be kept for the purposes of going up and down the river and locating this 'shine,' which is said to be suspended on or about the full of the moon.

To a crook every game looks to be crooked.

Kentucky May Have to Notice Others' Moves

(Owensboro Messenger)

Minnesota's $100,000,000 good roads project to improve highways connecting the principal towns and the ten thousand lakes for which the state is famous, was launched last week.

Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, has organized a maintenance force of more than 1,000 men, with a patrolman for each five-mile section and special gangs to keep the gravel roads in the best condition until paving is laid over the entire 7,000 mile system. Actual operations started May 1. Contracts for additional hard-surfacing will be awarded soon, according to the highway department, which will spend approximately $10,000,000 on highways this season and increasing amounts each year thereafter.

The Babcock good roads plan was adopted at the last election and put into effect by the legislature which has just adjourned.

Improvements will be financed with the proceeds of a 2 per cent tax on the list price of motor vehicles, in lieu of other levies. A state and valorem tax levy of 1 per cent and local levies will be continued to provide funds for improvement of lateral or feeder roads.

Minnesota already has very long stretches of paving on arterial routes and hundreds of miles of smooth gravel roads. Completion of the Babcock plan will mean a good road to every farm gate in the state and the highway department predicts that the most important lines will be hard-surfaced within five years.

Kentucky may yet have to come to something like this if it is to have a very extensive road system. It is not probable that state bonds can be voted, but increased motor taxes could well be levied.

FOR RENT—40 acres of fine blue grass land for grazing. See Mrs. S. D. Hall.

Lots of sure-thing players die poor.

Don't throw away 75c when we can get a dollar's worth of hard-surfaced roads for 25c. Vote "YES" at the Road Election Saturday.

Overhaul Outfit

Now to Prevent Delay

In order to begin the canning operations when fruits and vegetables are at their best it is necessary to overhaul the canning outfit now, taking stock of jars, rubbers and other necessary articles and preparing in a general way for the rush, home economics specialists from the College of Agriculture suggest. Delay from day to day in canning result in overgrown or over-ripe products which are more or less wooden and lacking in flavor. Rhubarb, asparagus and spinach are things which can be canned now and which should have a place in every home pantry.

Where to Boost Your Own Product

In a country town.
In a farmer's co-operative store.
In the heart of a dairy community.
In what is perhaps the nation's greatest dairy state, a product is being advertised and sold in large quantities that is helping to keep down the prices of dairy cattle, milk, and other dairy products. This product is "oleomargarine," and the farmer is said to be the best customer. Unfortunately, this condition is not limited to one town, but is common to the entire state. Dairymen should get back their own product. It has no substitutes as a food.

Produce clean milk.
Use more milk.
Use butter and cheese freely.
Fight filled milk.
Feed more milk on the farm.
In this state, farmers, townsmen, city men--everybody--should boost the products of our farmers. When the farm products of a state are in good demand and bring a good but reasonable price, that whole state is prosperous; the vast majority of citizens are individually prosperous, you among the rest.

Promises of the New Generation

(By Margaret Steel Hard)

"Mrs. Scott promised to furnish sandwiches for the Parish tea this afternoon. It's time to commence serving and she hasn't sent them; they say she's gone motoring with friends--what shall we do?"

I hurried across the street to make sandwiches of what available material I could find in the house, and I reflected upon Matilda Scott and her kind. What, after all, was the reason that not only she but many other women could not be depended upon to keep promises and carry their legitimate share of responsibility? As I looked out of the window the answer came.

Sally Brown was passing with her mother. Her shrill entreaty reached my ears.

"Mamma, let me have another candy!"

"No, Sally, you promised you'd not ask for another when I let you have the last one."

"Just one more, please, Mamma!"

"No."

"Just one more, I'll not ask for another one, I promise."

"Well--just one more, then."

"Goody! One--or two."

How easily Sally slid out of that promise!

It seemed a trivial thing, perhaps, and yet such small promises and their keeping form the foundation for conscientious girlhood and boyhood, womanhood and manhood. If children are to possess a sense of responsibility they must be capable of responding to obligations, they must be trustworthy; and there is but one beginning offered for the development of these qualities, namely, the everyday occurrences in the life of the little child. It is a matter for eternal vigilance.

My mind slipped back to a call upon a young neighbor. It had not been a satisfactory call, due to the constant and unnecessary interruptions of the little daughter of the family.

"Sarah," her distressed mother pleaded, "you promised not to interrupt when mother had friends."

"Yes, but mother, just get it for me this time."

"No, I must not be disturbed."

Sarah swung on her mother's chair, buzzed in her ear.

"Sarah!"

"Mother, just this time!"

"Very well, just this time. Excuse me a moment, Mrs. --- while I get it for her."

Sudan-Grass Bids Fair to be Important Crop

Sudan grass promises to become an important pasture crop in Kentucky, according to results of experiments carried on by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, at Lexington, since 1915. In both 1915 and 1916 large yields were secured, those of 1915 being remarkable because of the heavy rainfall and the fertility of the soil. The first crop was so heavy that it could not be mowed up and amounted to a yield of about seven tons per acre, while the second cutting yielded two tons of hay per acre.

Results obtained up to the present time indicate that the crop is exceptionally valuable as a catch crop to furnish hay when there promises to be a shortage of the regular hay supply or to occupy a field that would otherwise be idle on account of the failure of wheat or some other crop.

The grass, which is an annual, and must be reseeded each year, grows to be about five feet high on good soils when sown broadcast or drilled in. When planted in rows and cultivated it grows taller, but even then the stems do not become much coarser than those of the German millet. The crop grows more rapidly than the ordinary sorghums and two crops of hay a year can be produced in Kentucky if the seeding is done by the first of June.

The crop is preferable to the millets except where the length of time in which to grow the crop is short, since Sudan grass will not mature as quickly as will the millets. It yields more than the millets, however, and, in addition the hay is of a superior quality than can be fed to all classes of livestock with safety.

Sudan grass can be grown on any well-drained soil or on any land that will raise common sorghum. For hay the crop may be sown broadcast or drilled in like wheat, or planted in rows and cultivated. Twenty to 30 pounds of seed per acre are required when it is sown by broadcasting or drilling, but four to five pounds per acre are sufficient when the grass is sown in rows 20 to 32 inches apart and cultivated once or twice. The seeding may be done from May 1 to July 1.

Lee County Has Most Valuable Mules

The most valuable mules in Kentucky are located in Lee county, according to reports received by the State Tax Commission. These mules are valued for taxation at an average of $124.66 a head. In Franklin county they are valued at $78.89 a head, and in Woodford county at $112.87.

A Freak Chicken

In a bunch of lively chicks hatched out recently at the home of Wyatt Thompson, on High street, Paris, Ky., was one which nature, in a freakish mood, endowed with four legs. The chick ran after the mother hen like the others, but succumbed the other day to the burden of "carrying on" with the two extra legs and passed away.

Ford Production 4,000 Cars a Day

Ford is building cars at full speed. And, according to an official statement from the factory at Detroit, the demand for Ford cars and trucks still exceeds the output, despite the fact that a new high level of production has been reached.

By the first of May the figures representing daily production were in the neighborhood of 4,000 a day, so the May schedule was set at 101,125 cars and trucks, not including the output of the Ford Canadian plant or any of the foreign assembling plants. The output has mounted daily; May 12th brought forth 4,092, the greatest number that has been produced in one day so far this year. Since the month has 25 working days, present indications point to a new high record.

A comparison of Ford production figures for 1920 and 1921 discloses the fact that for April, 1921, the output was greater by 34,514 than for the corresponding month of a year ago. The output for May, 1921, will probably overshadow May, 1920, by between fifteen and twenty thousand cars and trucks.

Approximately 43,000 men are at work in the Detroit plant of the Ford Motor Company. The factory is operating on full time, six days a week and three shifts a day.

"We were never in a better condition than we are right now," said Henry Ford recently.

Shooting Up Old Ships

One of the nation's smartest editorial writers has given us a piece of his excellent paper in which he waxes very indignant because our navy airplanes are going to practice bombing by making targets of obsolete German warships that were awarded to America in a treaty which Germany signed. He says: "If the Germans had taken battleships of ours and amused themselves by making targets of them we should not feel highly of the performance."

This gentleman of the pen forgets, however, that the American navy makes targets of its own obsolete ships—ships on which American boys have fought for their country and which they loved just as much as the Germans loved their alleged warships.

You will readily remember a particularly notable example of this. The U. S. battleship Texas was in the battle of Santiago, commanded by Captain Phillips, who said, as the Spaniards struggled in the water: "Don't cheer, boys—the poor fellows are dying!" The Texas became a back number in good time, and our navy took it down somewhere around Hampton Roads and shot it full of holes as a target. Incidentally, they couldn't sink the gallant old Texas and more recently she was made a target of our bombing airplanes. They, too, failed to sink her.

The German warships are of no further use, except as hulks upon which to experiment. And if our navy can use vessels from which "Old Glory" has flown in battle, certainly there is no sentiment against placing to the same use warships that have flown the black flag of Emperor William.

Produce Review

The supply of eggs on the market this week has been in excess of the demand, both for current consumption and storage, resulting in lower prices. Many storage houses are practically filled, and on account of the excess holdings, as compared with last year, it is evident that more eggs will have to be consumed currently.

Poultry is being marketed in sufficient quantities to supply the trade, but any appreciable increase in the volume moving will have a tendency to reduce prices.

A material reduction in the value of butter has occurred this week, resulting in generally lower prices for butterfat in producing sections.

Let's All Talk

Prosperity Now!

What about business conditions during the next six months.

What can you say to the panicky dealer who believes that everything is going to the bow-wows?

Here are some thoughts that you can pass on to your trade:

Do not look for a panic; it will not come.

Why?

1. Demand will exceed supply in most lines.

2. People are employed—at good wages.

3. Crops are exceptionally bountiful.

4. Lower interest rates are expected—which will relieve the credit strain.

5. Gradual deflation of commodity prices will release credit that can be used for productive work by merchants and manufacturers.

6. Banks have the power, and they are using it to discourage speculation and conserve credit for the worthwhile enterprises.

7. Freight congestion is being rapidly cleared up.

8. Labor is becoming more efficient.

9. Retail trade is already improving.

10. As deflation progresses, a more optimistic, hopeful spirit is being manifested, which is perhaps more important than all other factors combined.

All of the above statements apply to business in general.

People have always eaten three meals a day and they will continue to do so.

Next to agriculture itself the most basic business is that of selling food and wearing apparel and agricultural tools.

A remarkable statement, by a true one, is that you can go through our books for thirty years and you will find a constant steady increase in sales, production and shipments.

year by year, month by month, and without a single period of depression, not the slightest trace or mark to indicate any hard times, panics or unusual conditions have occurred during these thirty years.

We have it from many other companies dealing in food products that they are practically untouched by the so-called "depressions" except possibly in the matter of collections which are inclined to be slow in times of tight money.

At the present time, however, there is absolutely nothing of which the jobber or specialty salesman need be afraid.

People will eat just as much during the next twelve months as they ate in the last twelve. They will probably eat more than they ate during the war, during which time there was some curtailment of food consumption due to shortage and for patriotic reasons.

Forget all about panics. Expect to do a business and you will.

Set your quota ahead of last year's quota and you can beat it.

Don't throw away 75c when we can get a dollar's worth of hard-surfaced roads for 25c. Vote "YES" at the Road Election Saturday.

American Legion News

National headquarters of American Legion has received more than 1,100 signed resolutions calling upon Congress for immediate legislative aid to disabled veterans of the World War. Among the organizations which have shown the largest response to the appeal of F. W. Galbrath, Jr., National Commander, are Central Labor and Trade Unions, Chambers of Commerce Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, Knights of Columbus, associations of public school teachers and principals, the American War Mothers, Service Star Legion and American Legion posts.

Five million poppies have been received by the American-France Children's League for sale to American Legion members and other ex-service men on Memorial Day. The League, which is the American branch of La Ligue Americaine-Francaise des Enfants, will devote the proceeds of the poppy sale to French war orphans.

Ethel Barrymore and a host of stage and screen celebrities contributed their talent to the American Legion at the annual show of S. Rankin Drew Post, composed of New York ex-service men who are engaged in various branches of theatrical and motion picture enterprises.

Although it found thousands of jobs for unemployed ex-service men, H. Kravitz, American Legion employment secretary at St. Paul, Minn., was almost stumped when two mothers asked that two veterans be sent to care for their babies while they went shopping. The warrior nurse maids who answered the appeal made good on the job.

Despite the fact that the American Legion Weekly is a men's publication, women readers won the first three prizes in a contest conducted by the advertising department of the ex-service men's organ for the best written advertisement of a well-known dessert. There were 1,669 contestants for eight prizes, of which 1,075 were men; 821 unmarried women and 273 married women. From the total number of replies received, 64.4 per cent originated from men and 35.6 per cent from women.

Formation of a prominent organization in Virginia for the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion was perfected at a recent meeting, which was addressed by Russell G. Creviston, assistant national adjutant of the American Legion.

If the Detroit Tigers don't win the American League baseball pennant it will not be the fault of the American Legion. Nine members of the team will join Charles A. Learned Post on American Legion Day, May 28. Ty Cobb, a captain in the chemical warfare service during the war, is one of the Michigan post's best boosters.

Prayers in almost every church in the state began the service and the membership campaign of the American Legion in Idaho. Americanism meetings in every city will be a feature of the drive.

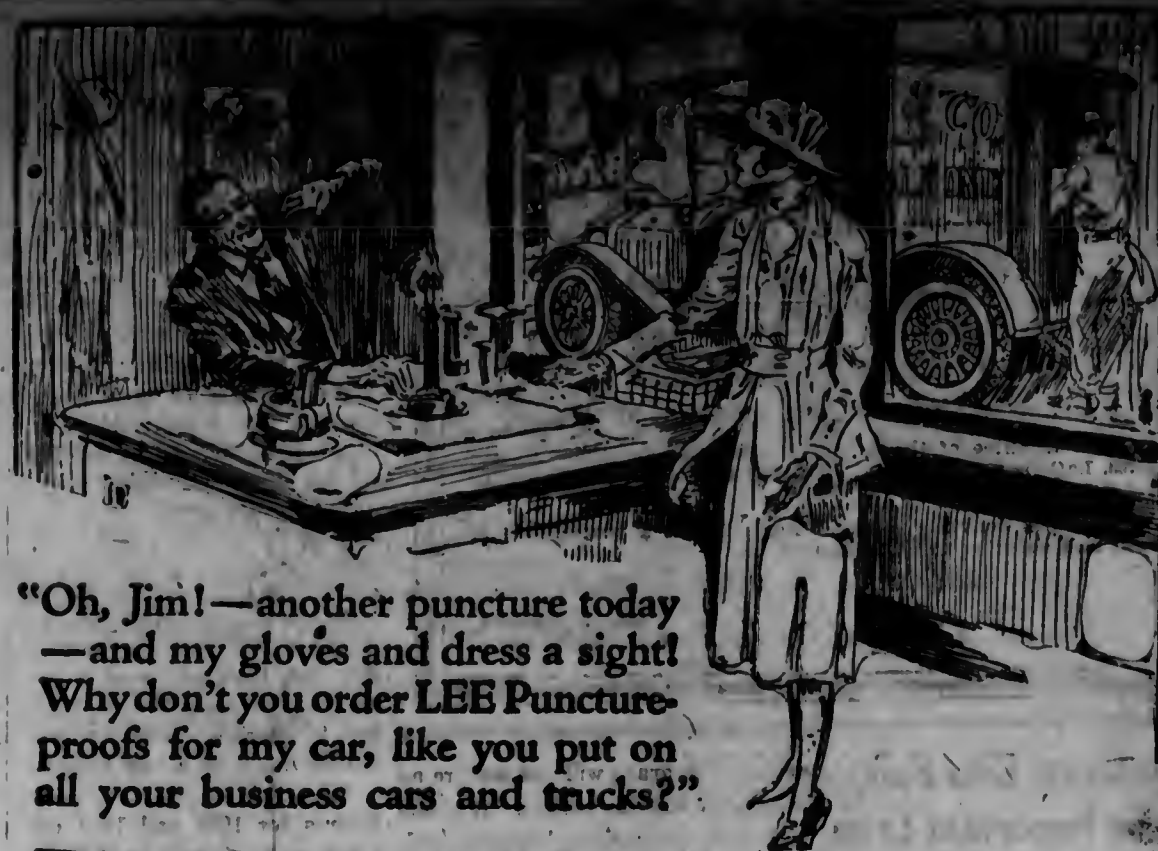

The General Electric Company in Erie, Pa., will present an American flag and post standard to the post of the American Legion formed among its employees. A memorial will be dedicated to employees of the company who died in action.

"As time passes, I have grown and more proud of my part in the founding of the American Legion," said Assistant Secretary of the Navy Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., in presenting two silk flags to the National Press Club Post of the Legion in Washington, D. C. The presentation ceremonies were attended by a large group of high government officials.

When the school board of Port Huron, Mich., became entangled in an educational and financial controversy which resulted in a deadlock, the American Legion post of the city took a hand. The ex-service men protested against a proposal to oust one teacher and to reduce the salary of another, both of them former soldiers. The deadlock was broken.

A home-coming welcome was accorded F. W. Galbrath, Jr., National Commander of the American Legion, when he returned to his home in Cincinnati to preside at an All-American meeting, addressed by Assistant Secretary of the Navy Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and Brig. General Charles G. Dawes. Led by American Legion members, 40,000 citizens of Cincinnati marched in a parade of honor for the Legion Commander.

Pullmans and tourists' sleepers will be "parked" in the principal downtown streets of Kansas City, Mo., to accommodate members of the American Legion attending the organization's national convention next fall. Tracks will be laid in the streets and cars connected with the city's electric lighting system so that men

Women Must Pay Tax

Women living in the country are liable for a poll tax of $1 each according to a opinion handed down by Attorney General Charles I. Dawson. The question was raised by Bernard Stone, chairman of the Nelson County Board of Education, who wanted a construction on the act of the last legislature providing that the "Fiscal Court shall impose upon all legal voters residing in the territory effected by the ad valorem tax a capitation tax not exceeding one dollar each." Since women are legal voters Attorney General Dawson holds that they must pay the poll tax.

Sunday Asks Question Then Answers Same

Today I have no text especially. Some time ago I was startled by these words starting at me from the pages of a newspaper, "Who Was Jesus?"

Let's try to find out from those who lived with Him while He was here in the flesh, although I might ask people today and get just as thorough answers. But let's go back with those who knew Him, and shook hands with Him, heard his words, received the gracious benefit by associating with Him.

The first one that I will question is a strong man and his wife. I say to them, "Who was Jesus?" and their faces brighten with glad expectation. "Why He came to our wedding, when we were poor peasants, and He honored us by a visit to our humble home."

"Well, do you love Him and keep up your acquaintance with Him?"

"Oh, yes, and we found that the more we loved Him the more we loved one another, and the happier and more contented we were with our lot. He has always been welcome in our home. We never had trouble that He didn't gladly deliver us from."

The next was a father, a lordly sort of a fellow, and with him is a noble youth with a frank, open face. I asked him, "Who was Jesus?" and the father's eyes kindled with joy, and he said:

"Why, it was Jesus that gave me back this boy standing by my side. The doctors said he must die, and we heard that with despair, for a father with an only son knows how I felt when I found that I had to lose my boy."

"While in great sorrow and while my heart was broken over anticipating the death of my boy, a friend told me about Jesus and the wonderful things he'd soon Him do. When I heard that Jesus was only 17 miles away I called for the fleetest horse I had in my stable, and I was soon on his back, in my saddle and was galloping away with all speed to Cana of Galilee. There I found Jesus, and I cried out: 'Sir, come down, ere my child die!' And with a look of compassion, which I could not doubt, He said to me, 'Go your way, for your son liveth.'"

"I started back home and while I was a great distance from the house, I met the servants who had come down to meet me. I noticed that their faces looked happy, and I asked them about my boy. They said, 'Your son is well.' It was Jesus who turned my sorrow into joy. He is the light and comfort of my home. Who was Jesus? He gave me back my boy."

"Who was Jesus?" I see a man well along in years, and his hair is gray and his step is quick and very strong, and his face is full of happiness and his cheek is ruddy with the glow of health. I hail him and I say, "Who was Jesus?" and at the name, gladness seems to kindle in his eyes, and with joy in his tones, he cries out:

"Why, it was Jesus who made me what I am today. For thirty-eight years, I'd lain on the porch by the pool of Bethesda through storm and through cold, through sunshine, and through rain, through the long wakeful nights waiting for the angel to come down at a certain season and trouble the waters, that I might creep in and be healed of my disease."

"But one with more strength and energy than I always beat me to it, and got in ahead of me, and I was disappointed and discouraged. Hope had almost begun to die in me, and I thought I'd give up and quit."

"One day I saw a face full of compassion bending over me, and with a voice like my mother's this said to me, 'What would you that I should do unto you?' I told Him of my despair and helplessness, and He said to me: 'Well, you arise and take up your bed and walk.' Strength came instantly to my limbs, and I was shouting happy with joy! I have never had an ache or a pain."

"It was Jesus who made me well after thirty-eight years of hopeless suffering. Now I am telling others."

I asked the little children, "Who is Jesus?" and they stopped skipping the rope. They stopped rolling the hoop. They stopped playing duck-on-the-rock. They say, "Jesus was the good man who took us up in His arms and kissed us and said, 'Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not, for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven.'"

I asked the centurion, captain of the Roman band who executed Pilate's bloody orders, when they nailed Jesus on the cross, "Who was Jesus?" He smites upon his mailed breast with his gloved hand and says:

"Surely, He was the Son of God, for never man spake like this man. Surely He was the Son of God, for the sun was darkened and the earth trembled and the graves opened and they came out of them, sir."

I asked the angel, whose raiment was white as snow, whose countenance was like lightning, "Who was Jesus?" He rolled away the stone, and the women found the angels sitting upon the stone when they went into the garden, hearing precious spices to anoint the body of Jesus for burial. Who was Jesus?

"Jesus of Nazareth, which was crucified? He is risen, risen," shouted the angel. "He is not here. Behold the place where they laid Him. Why seek ye the living among the dead?"

It was Jesus of whom the angels sang, about the moonlit hills of Judea on that first Christmas morn:

"Glory to God in the Highest, On Earth, peace, good will to men."

It was Jesus who said, "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

It was Jesus who said, "I come that you might have life, and that you might have it more abundantly."

It was Jesus who said, "I am the resurrection and the life."

It was Jesus who said, "In My Father's house are many mansions."

It was Jesus who wrought the wonderful works that we have been considering.

Watterson Unable to Attend Press Meeting

Danville is disappointed that the city will not have the honor and the pleasure of entertaining Henry Watterson at the meeting of the Kentucky Press Association here the week of June 6. Senator Jay W. Harlan, secretary of the Danville Chamber of Commerce, wrote to the Colonel, inviting him to be present. Colonel Watterson's reply is as follows:

"Mansfield, Jeffersonton, Ky.
"May 17, 1921.

"My dear Sir:

"At four score, and upward, a man may draw the line upon public occasions, functions and duties. This I have been doing for many years.

"I should be glad to meet my old colleagues of the Kentucky Press, but I do not feel myself quite equal to it—indeed, not at all equal to it. I can however, no longer claim to be, or to call myself a journalist—just a plain Kentucky farmer—living with his dear old wife, and his children, and his grandchildren, on a Kentucky farm, far from the busy haunts of men, still proud of being a Kentuckian—as my forbears were—and exalting in all that contributes to the greatness and glory of Kentucky. Age has not diminished my faith in God, nor dethroned my adoration of my country, its constitution, its destiny and its flag.

"Sincerely,
"HENRY WATTERSON."

Save the Babies!

Last year the United States government spent $47,000,000 to help farmers produce better hogs, cattle and corn. Not one cent was spent for better babies!

It isn't so bad when the baby happens to be one of the fortunate ones whose coming is heralded by the family and relatives and at whose birth the mother can have the advantages of the best medical care and advice and also the proper training for the duties of motherhood.

But what of the millions of babies whose coming into the world is looked upon by the parents as a calamity? And what of the thousands of babies whose coming means the stamping of the brand of shame on the young mothers?

These are the babies that the Salvation Army is saving, and at the same time is saving their mothers.

Several thousand such babies were born in the 26 maternity homes and hospitals conducted by the Salvationists in the United States last year. What will become of these kiddies and their mothers? This is the problem that the Salvation Army is being called upon to solve.

In Brigadier Herbert Roberts' Western Ohio and Kentucky division there are seven maternity homes and chief among which are the Catherine Booth home at Cincinnati and the Susan Speed Davis Home, Louisville; other homes are located at Frankfort, Ky., Columbus, Ohio, and at Bucyrus, Ohio, and Portsmouth, Ohio.

At the Catherine Booth Home 28 babies were born in 1920 and 159 girls were admitted; of these 43 were maternity cases. There now are 28 girls and 23 infants at the home. Of the 87 girls received during the year, 76 were from Ohio, the remainder from Kentucky, and most of them came from small towns in both of the states. Three girls were adopted from the home; 78 turned over to parents, friends and guardians, two sent to other institutions and only one died. Positions were obtained for 18.

The Salvation Army's proposed extension of its service from the city to the country will materially assist this work.
